

Temperatures Expected to Drop Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas had unseasonably high temperatures this morning, but a cold front moving into northwest Arkansas was expected to send the mercury skidding by afternoon.

The Arctic air also was expected to bring overcast skies, rain, and winds of 15 to 25 miles per hour. Snow flurries were predicted for the northern section of the state.

Overnight lows ranged from 33 at Fayetteville to 61 at El Dorado as a strong southerly flow of warm air continued over the state.

No rainfall was reported during the 24-hour period ending today at 6 a.m.

Highs of 55 to 65 were forecast for this afternoon with lows tonight expected to drop to near 20 northwest to near 35 southeast.

Strong northerly winds fanned arctic air and snow from Montana into northern sections of the Midwest today, ending a brief period of spring-like weather.

The huge mass of cold air extended from Montana through the central Plains into the northern Ohio Valley and headed southward. Temperatures dropped sharply as the icy air moved in from Canada and were below zero in Montana, the Dakotas and Minnesota.

Heavy, blowing snow and zero cold created blizzard conditions in parts of Montana and the Dakotas Wednesday. Winds which were clocked at 60 m.p.h. during the height of the storm in northwest Montana diminished during the night. Snow depths ranged from four to six inches in parts of Montana and South Dakota.

In Montana, the mercury plunged to 21 below zero in Cut Bank. In Helena, the -10 reading was 49 degrees lower than 24 hours earlier. In Minnesota, International Falls reported -11 below.

Outside the cold belt, skies were mostly fair to partly cloudy with temperatures generally above normal.

Job Situation Remains About Same

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today the nation's job situation remained virtually unchanged in December. Employment declined seasonally by 426,000 and unemployment increased by 16,000.

The usual cold weather effect on employment brought the total number of workers holding jobs to 67,561,000 compared with 67,981,000 in November.

Unemployment rose to 3,817,000 compared with the 3,801,000 in November. The December idle increase was considerably less than the 10,000 normally expected in December.

The seasonally adjusted rate of unemployment to the work force was 5.6 per cent in December, compared with 5.8 per cent in November and 5.5 per cent in October. The jobless rate has been in this range through most of 1962.

Harold Goldstein, assistant labor statistics commissioner, said the December figures reflected no basic change in the job situation. He said it has remained much the same since early 1962.

Non-farm employment rose seasonally in December to 63.5 million or about 1.5 million above a year earlier.

Farm employment dropped more than seasonally between November and December to 4.1 million. This was believed due to extremely cold weather. Farm employment, however, is on a continuing decline.

Goldstein said the indicated growth of the labor force in 1962 was about 600,000 to 700,000, or considerably less than the growth anticipated on the basis of population figure.

JFK to Again Ask Urban Chief

WASHINGTON (AP)—Undiscouraged by the defeat of the plan last year, President Kennedy will ask the new Congress to create a Department of Urban Affairs with full cabinet status.

Officials who gave this word today admitted that prospects for passage this year are dim, but said the administration hopes at least to get the legislative wheels oiled for a big push in 1964. The proposal ran into racial controversy a year ago.

Kennedy said then he intended to name Housing Administrator Robert C. Weaver to head the proposed 11th department, making Weaver the first Negro cabinet officer in history.

Last year's bill was killed in the House Rules Committee by the combined votes of Republicans and Southern Democrats, but Kennedy sent it back to Congress as a reorganization plan which would become law automatically unless either the Senate or House vetoed it. The House did the job, 204 to 150.

To Ask Fund to Finance Industry

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—William P. Rock, director of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, said Wednesday the AIDC will ask the 1963 Legislature to create a $200,000 fund to help communities finance industry under the Area Development Act.

Rock said he hopes to obtain support of Gov. Orval E. Faubus in the request. The governor appeared interested in the matter during a Wednesday conversation, Rock said, and asked for more information.

to our civilian expenditures and propose tax cuts at the same time when we may face the biggest deficit in our history?" Asked Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

that communities raise 10 per cent of the total amount of the cost of an Area Redevelopment project, Rock said, many depressed areas have been unable to secure industrial loans from the ARA.

Rock proposes that the state lend local agencies money to make up all or part of the 10 per cent.

"Some of these areas just can't raise that 10 per cent. The factors which caused them to be declared depressed areas and be made eligible for ARA loans held them back," he said.

The proposal for the state fund was termed by Craig Smith, chief of industrial development services for the AIDC, one of the best investments Arkansas could make. Smith drew up the details of the loan program.

"The $200,000 the state would put up would finance industries worth $2 million," Smith said. Industrial experts estimate that one job is created for each $2,000 invested in industry, he added. At this rate, with a $2 million investment, Arkansas would have created 1,000 additional jobs. The cost per job would only be $200, he said.

Under the ARA program owners of the industry involved put up 5 per cent, 20 per cent must be raised by private loans, the community must raise 10 per cent and the ARA furnishes 65 per cent. Smith said the state's money would be secure, since the Small Business Administration makes a thorough investigation of any project eligible for an ARA loan.

In almost all cases, he said, such loans are used to help expand or establish Arkansas-owned industries.

"The outside companies generally have their own financing," Smith said.

There are now 36 predominantly rural Arkansas counties eligible for ARA loans. The AIDC expects several others to be added to the list soon.

Temporary Site for Vapor Club

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The gambling tables and entertainment of the Vapors Club open in temporary quarters tonight while the club's location on Park Ave. is being repaired from a bomb explosion.

Meanwhile city and state police continued their investigation of the bombing. Several local people have been questioned, officers said, but no arrests have been made.

State Police are making laboratory analyses on debris to find out what kind of explosive was used.

The Vapors operation will be moved to the Belvedere Club, which is owned by the same corporation but operated only during the spring racing season. The Vapors will be repaired in about three weeks. Damage was estimated at $125,000. Eleven persons were injured in the blast Jan. 4, none seriously.

Several theories have been advanced by officers, gamblers and observers as to who bombed the Vapors. Dane Harris, manager of the club, thinks it was the work of a crank. Police said it might have been a grudge motive. Other gamblers have said a syndicate from Las Vegas, Chicago or New York might have had the bomb set.

U.S. Planning More Pressure on Cubans

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States sought today to rally stronger pressures against Cuba—still the base for an estimated 16,000 to 17,000 Soviet soldiers—as the next step in an effort to end the Communist threat in the hemisphere.

U.S. officials believe the campaign may be long and difficult. The United States and the Soviet Union put a formal and diplomatic end to the Cuban crisis Monday with a letter announcing the conclusion of their talks.

The letter, from U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov to U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant, acknowledged they had not been able to "resolve all the problems that have arisen in connection" with the crisis.

But they said they hoped that the "actions taken to avert the threat of war" will lead, "toward the adjustment of other differences" between the two countries.

One issue still remaining is that of Cuba itself.

The U.S. government, Washington officials said, stands firmly committed to President Kennedy's promise to try to halt Cuban subversion and to his proposition that "the Cuban people shall some day be truly free."

Since the avowed U.S. intent is not to accomplish this by military invasion, and proposed measures are more psychological and economic than forceful, an indefinite period of contest lay ahead.

Informants said the estimate of 16,000 to 17,000 Soviet military personnel still in Cuba—substantially higher than previous estimates—stemmed from a re-evaluation of intelligence data rather than any new influx of Soviet troops.

The higher count was also said to have grown from information indicating Soviet soldiers are more widely engaged in the Cuban military system than previously thought.

The current U.S. assessment sums up this way:

About two-thirds of the approximately 17,000 Soviet military in Cuba are advisers and technicians. About one-third are combat soldiers in four heavily armed battalions. About 4,000 troops—those associated with the withdrawn missiles and bombers—have left.

The expectation here is that the number of trainers and technicians will dwindle as their tasks are completed in future months. There is no sign of departure of the combat battalions.

The U.S. government has made plain it intends to continue its aerial surveillance over Cuba.

Plant Unfair, NLB Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board overruled a trial examiner Wednesday and ordered that an unfair labor practices complaint against the Mitchell Standard Furniture Co. of Fort Smith be dismissed.

Examiner Eugene F. Frey held a hearing in Fort Smith on the case last July and submitted an intermediate report Sept. 19 in which he recommended that the company be ordered to bargain with Local 270 of the United Furniture Workers of America.

The board said it investigation revealed that the company "was motivated by a good-faith doubt of the union's majority status" and did not violate the National Labor Relations Act by refusing to bargain with the union.

Limits on the effectiveness of a general hemispheric restriction on trade with Cuba are recognized here. It was pointed out that the $53 million in U.S. food-drugs ransom for the Cuban invasion prisoners amounted to about five years worth of Latin America trade with Cuba, now running about $10 million annually.

Cuba now is plagued by economic troubles. The U.S. foreign agriculture service said today that four years of Castro administration has just about wrecked the island's agriculture.

$2964 is the kind of price most people associate with a smaller car. They seldom expect to find it on a full-size, precision-engineered Chrysler Newport 4-door sedan.

After all, look at all the value a Chrysler offers. Features like torsion-bar suspension; all-welded, one-piece body; carpeting; trip odometer; and the Newport engine that performs like a champ on regular gasoline.

Then, there's the way a Chrysler is put together. Quality all the way. So well made, in fact, that your Chrysler dealer provides you with America's longest and best new car warranty—5 years or 50,000 miles. You have fewer worries about expensive repair bills. And because the warranty can be passed on to the next owner, you can count on excellent Chrysler resale value.

So, if you cotton to smaller prices, big value and big cars (remember, we don't build any jr. editions) get in touch with your Chrysler dealer.

NEW YORK (AP)—Designer Karen Stark of Harvey Berin believes the diamond cut is a thin girl's best friend.

Ann Klein of Junior Sophisticates holds the view that the once-prosaic shirt is a girl's most faithful fashion companion.

Each had an opportunity to explain her viewpoint Tuesday at the spring style previews which were a part of semiannual Fashion Press Week activities here. More than 200 fashion reporters throughout the country were the enthusiastic audience.

On the runway Harvey Berin models showed that when little diamond-shaped pieces of wool and crepes are sewn together on a bias, a fleshless figure can be transformed into something sensuous, willowy and graceful.

This tricky stitching could not be recommended for the abundantly endowed. Better for them was the so-called Montmartre silhouette with its lanky overblouse, long sleeves and A-line skirts.

For the girl who lives a gay social life, there were no diamonds, but sleeveless overblouses loaded with fake jewels. This twinkled over skirts made of fluttering layers of Easter egg-colored pastel chiffons.

Ann Klein sent her manikins into the spotlight in more shirts than the average man could hope to have in his wardrobe.

There were shirts for night, much too elegant to sleep in. For day, there were shirts to eat in, but only at the best restaurants.

Others were to work in, but only at glamorous career jobs. Some were to play in, but nothing more strenuous than cards or the piano.

Many, many more were to party in—any kind of party.

The shirt often was a handsome wool jacket worn long over a slim skirt and a trim overblouse. Often it was a pullover in shaggy mohair, in soft floral silk, or in a heavy, well-disciplined crepe.

and Mrs. Crit Stuart, Jr. During the refreshment hour the tea was centered with white candles and yellow and white flowers, since the club's colors are white and gold.

Coffee was poured by Mrs. Herbert Stephens, and the salad was served by a past president, Mrs. P. M. Horton. There were 21 attending.

One Boy's Reactions To Lipstick

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I am a sophomore in high school and like any normal boy have my share of dates but believe me, none of them use makeup. In my opinion any girl of 13 who paints herself up like an Indian is a fool. She is only earning a huge reputation as a pick-up.

Several of us boys were discussing this apropos of your columns on the subject. We are all in your corner on the make-up question but only partly so on the age for dating.

My feelings on dates before 17 are these: too many adults see a date as an occasion for passionate kissing and necking. If such is done, it's the girl not the boy who is the aggressor.

Boys run like scared rabbits at the first long kiss. We don't want to get serious—time enough for that when we're grown.

We like girls who are pretty, gay and good company. On this basis I see no harm in a boy and girl under 17 taking in a movie, going to a basketball match or attending a school dance unchaperoned. I find most parents today of this opinion.

However, there are some who fear their darling daughters will do wrong so keep them behind bars, figuratively speaking. It's been my experience that these are the first to break loose with a hell of a yell.

Dear Sonny: I'm glad you're in my corner. As for the age to date, customs vary with geography and time. The mores of our country have changed radically in the last few years. You, having been exposed to recent customs in dating, undoubtedly are aware of this so I'll take what you say for what it is worth.

But there is another point of view; that of the parents. They are a pretty liberal lot, far more lenient than in other countries. I spent last spring and part of the summer in Europe. Teen girls have far less liberty and freedom of action, and—there is always a chaperon in the offing! Old-fashioned maybe, but the system produced some lovely, unaffected and charming girls.

Dear Helen: You seem pessimistic about reforming a drunkard. Well, my husband used to get drunk every weekend, drive his car like crazy and sass everybody, even me and his folks.

Instead of going down with him, I helped him come up—to the amazement of his family. I do give him credit because he had a hard life, had to quit school in the eighth grade and shine shoes for a living because his Dad left his mother with nine kids to support.

I laid down the law, said it was me or drink. If a man really loves a woman—as mine did me—he will quit. Maybe my experience will encourage other wives to take heart. —Want to live?

Dear Want: It more wives had your backbone and strength of character to say, "This is it or else—" there would be fewer tragedies in married life. A man is clay in the hands of a woman he really loves and she can't right is on her side, pull him back to normal. You've done a fine thing. It just goes to show how potent a good woman can be!

Dear Helen: I am 20, my girl 17 and we're to be married in April. But one thing sure has me worried. When we watch TV at her house and I kiss her she jumps up, puts an ash tray away, pokes the fire, adjusts a shade—anything to duck my embraces. This makes me so mad I can't see straight. If I ask her how come she says, "We might go too far!" If it's like this now, what will it be after marriage? —Baffled.

Dear Baffled: Your girl is smart. Give her credit for side-stepping danger. If you can't stand the strain, how about advancing the wedding date? Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflets, "The Petting Problem," and "Marital Harmony."

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine care of this newspaper. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Death Penalty Asked by State

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state asked the death penalty today in the opening session of the first degree murder trial of a 17-year-old Negro accused of beating a cab driver to death.

Fred Hooks of Little Rock, the defendant, is accused of fatally beating Charles David Horton, 36, a white cab driver, last Nov. 24.

The prosecution charges Hooks beat Horton while robbing him of $35. Horton was found lying beside his cab in a Negro section of Little Rock. He died a short time later in a hospital.

A special jury panel was ordered to report and selection of the jury was expected to take all day.

Parks Group Ready If Money Is

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Industrial Development Commission announced Wednesday promotion of two employees and appointment of Jay B. Greer of Walnut Ridge as plant location consultant.

Craig Smith, chief of industrial services, was promoted to senior administrator. Smith, who joined the AIDC in 1959 as a management analyst, will work closely with William Rock, director of the commission, in forming the state's industrial development program.

Joe Dildy, who has been with the commission since its creation in 1955, was elevated to the post of consultant director. He had been senior plant location consultant.

The personnel changes were announced by Rock.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—If the 1963 legislature provides more money for recreational facilities, the Publicity and Parks Commission will be ready to proceed with whatever program the general assembly approves.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus said recently that development of tourist facilities would be one way to create new jobs in Arkansas. He indicated he would ask the legislature for money for this purpose.

Bryan Stearns, director of state parks, said today the governor had not discussed the program in detail with him.

"But we will be able to use effectively as much money as we can get," Stearns said.

About half of a $900,000 appropriation made in 1961 for expansion and improvements to existing parks has been spent, Stearns said, and the other half will be under contract by the end of this fiscal year.

Stearns said Arkansas has several recreational needs. Among these are purchase of new land for recreational purposes, establishment of smaller recreational areas as opposed to full-scale state parks and better distribution of park areas over the state.

Insurance Higher

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—About half the insurance companies in Arkansas were granted a minimum 15 per cent rate increase Nov. 1, the state Insurance Department reported Wednesday.

Another 15 per cent increase in rates went into effect Wednesday, for a special car insurance package, the department said. The department reported the raise had been requested by the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters for its some 30 member firms in Arkansas.

Hearing on Slum Clearance Project

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—A hearing on the legality of a petition seeking an election of the city's proposed $2.6 million urban renewal and slum clearance project was set for tonight by the Fort Smith City Commission.

The city Good Government League opposes the project and filed the petition for the election. City officials said the petition was questioned because the ballot title misquoted the city ordinance under which the plan was adopted. The prefix "re" in the word "relocation" was omitted, they said.

The project was originally scheduled to begin about Feb. 1, but will be delayed 90 to 120 days because of the call for an election. If the commission approves the petition, a quick election will probably be called, Mayor Bob Brookshier said Wednesday.

Irish Knocking Off Some of Unbeatens

By ED CORRIGAN

Noire Dame's tender sophomores may not set the basketball world on fire but they're turning into a bunch of old spoilsports. New Year's Eve, they knocked Illinois from the unbeaten ranks, the only blemish on the record of the 5th-ranked Illini.

Wednesday night, proud DePaul, boasting a spotless 8-0 record, came into the South Bend lair of the Irish. With three soph leading the way, the Irish pushed to a five-point half-time lead, then raced away for an 82-62 decision.

The sophs who did most of the damage were Larry Sheffield, who scored 21 points; Don Reed 17, and Walt Sahm 16.

Notre Dame now has a 9-3 record. DePaul will have an opportunity to get even on its home court next Wednesday.

Sophomores have been standouts all over the country this season. In another game Wednesday night, soph Billy Rado of Georgia dunked in 23 points in a losing cause. Georgia Tech, 7th-ranked nationally, barely eked out a 72-70 decision over the Bulldogs to keep its record a perfect 9-0.

Billy Cunningham, another super-soph, also did Herculean work for a losing cause. His North Carolina club, No. 10 in the current Associated Press poll, lost a 78-70 Atlantic Coast Conference decision to Wake Forest. Cunningham led all scorers with 25 points.

Virginia turned back North Carolina State 78-69 in another AAC game. The results left Wake Forest and Duke, which coasted past Navy 85-70 in a non-league game, tied for the loop lead.

Nick Werkman of Seton Hall, the nation's top scorer among the major collegians, registered 21 points in the Pirates' 79-47 victory over Rider, a New Jersey rival. Toledo turned back Bowling Green 60-55 in a Mid-American Conference game.

Independents Win Another

Perry's Truck Stop Independents downed the Spikes and Hooten team from Texarkana last night by a score of 77 to 69.

Wayne Loe led the locals with 21 points, followed by Brink Odum with 19 and Larry Bruce with 12. Black led the visitors with 15. McCormick made 12 and Hooten nine.

Field Narrows in Tourney at Tech

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The field of victors was narrowed to eight in second round games of the Arkansas Tech high school invitational basketball tournament Wednesday.

Fayetteville knocked Atkins from contention 47-35. Fort Smith finished Leslie 67-42. Lincoln edged out Marshall 46-44. Marmaduke ousted Clarksville 69-42. Plainview beat Coal Hill 78-60. Green Forest whipped Pyatt 42-39. Mulberry downed Van Buren 49-33 and Harrison defeated Jessierville 44-38 in Wednesday games.

Fayetteville met Plainview at 1 p.m. and Harrison tackled Green Forest at 2:20 in afternoon games today. On tap tonight are tilts between Fort Smith and Lincoln, at 7:30 p.m. and Marmaduke and Mulberry, at 8:40.

The tournament ends Saturday. Lincoln, the number 1 seeded team in the tourney, upset Marshall all to stay in contention. Marshall, cold from the field, hit only 25 per cent while Lincoln dumped 40 per cent of its field goals.

Jerry Birch, who led Lincoln with 13 points, hit a charity shot with 13 seconds remaining to set the final score. Buzz Cox hit 12 for Lincoln.

Fayetteville and Fort Smith, seeded No. 1 and 2 respectively, coasted to easy victories in the Wednesday play.

Fayetteville raced to an early lead, then hit a cold spell until the third quarter. Still, Atkins was never in contention for the game.

Wayne King, Ronnie Jackson and Jim McKinney hit 14, 13 and 12 points respectively to pace Fort Smith's Grizzlies to their easy victory over Leslie. Mike Margis and Larry Passmore each hit 10 for the losers.

Patterson Finally Calls His Shot

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Heavyweight champion Sonny Liston today rejected an announced April 4 rematch with Floyd Patterson at Miami Beach, asserting he preferred the bout to be held in early May in Baltimore.

Almost simultaneously, Liston's adviser expressed the same sentiments in New York.

"Sonny is willing to defend the title against Patterson in May, in Baltimore, but not until he has received the money due him from the first fight," adviser Jack Nilon told The Associated Press by telephone today.

Nilon said Liston, who knocked out Patterson in the first round in Chicago, Sept. 25, still has about $207,000 due him from ROGERS, Ark. (AP) — One of the largest bridges in northeast Arkansas is expected to be ready for traffic by mid summer. The yet unnamed bridge will span a narrow section of Beaver Lake near Rogers. The 11 piers range in height from six to 115 feet.

Championship Sports, Inc., promoters of the fight.

From his corner in Chicago, Liston said he knew nothing about the date and site for the return with Patterson and emphasized "they better start talking to me about this thing."

Liston's Chicago publicity chief, Ben Bentley, said the champion had not talked recently with Championship Sports, or his own adviser, Jack Nilon, about the details of a rematch.

In New York, November said the details had not all been worked out for the bout at Miami Beach's Convention Hall, but indicated the fight would be telecast to theaters around the country.

That was the setup for the first fight in which Liston hardly gave the paying customers enough time to settle back in their seats before dispatching Patterson in 2 minutes, 6 seconds of the first round at Chicago's Comiskey Park last Sept. 25.

Patterson had the contractual right to name the date, site and promoter for the rematch and did so despite the opposition of Jack Nilon, Liston's adviser, who feels April 4 is too late in the tourist season for Miami Beach.

"But," said Nilon, "if Patterson demands Miami Beach there is not much we can do about it."

Brown Fired as Cleveland Pro Coach

By LARRY FRIEDMAN

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Paul Brown, the football master who led the professional Cleveland Browns for 17 years after gaining coaching glory at the high school and college level of the game, has been fired.

The end of a gridiron era in Cleveland came late Wednesday with an announcement from Arthur B. Modell, club president.

"Paul E. Brown, head coach and general manager of the Cleveland Browns, will no longer serve the team in those capacities. Brown will remain as a vice president. He will finish out the balance of his six-year contract at the same compensation and will continue to be a stockholder."

Brown, 54, signed an eight-year contract two years ago. He was unavailable to callers Wednesday. And there was some doubt he would remain with the National Football League club he founded in 1946.

But Modell, who hopes to name a successor within 10 days, said: "I fervently hope Paul Brown will continue his association with the Browns for a long time to come. I have every indication he will stay with us."

Modell indicated Brown's shoes would be filled by two men—one a coach and the other a general manager.

"As for a coach I have four men in mind now," Modell said. Some names that drew speculation were Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys; Bill Austin, an assistant with Green Bay; Ohio State's Woody Hayes and the Browns' backfield coach, Blanton Collier.

Modell said he had been thinking about removing Brown for the past three weeks. He told Brown Monday.

"It was not a pleasant thing to do," said the 39-year-old former New York advertising executive who bought the club for $4 million in March 1961.

"The only reason I will give for the change, is that I believe it will serve the best interests of the Cleveland Browns."

Brown is believed to be drawing in excess of $50,000 a year from

Americans in Lebanon Use Horses

AP Special Report.

By DAVID LANCASHIRE

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—With clattering hooves and jingling bridles, horses pick their way through the twisting gorge, past soaring redstone cliffs where Lawrence of Arabia once rode.

A Bedouin raiding party? Tribal sheikhs riding to a rendezvous? Jordan's desert patrol tracking down smugglers?

No. It's a party of American tourists heading for Petra, an ancient caravan city hewn from solid, rose-colored rock.

With cameras at the ready, similar tourist groups scramble up the pyramids of Egypt, paddle across the Syrian sands to Palmyra, where the Roman ruins outshine those of Rome.

"Tourists are reaching out for new places, beyond Europe, and the Middle East has a great deal to offer," says one travel expert. "It has an additional appeal as a place that not too many people have seen."

Arab governments are aware of the profits tourists can bring. But most still have much to learn about attracting visitors and looking after them once they arrive.

Iraq, with its suspicion of foreigners, is the exception.

The Browns. But it was no secret that friction was building up between him and Modell, both of whom are strong personalities.

Until Modell came on the scene, Brown was the boss of everything to do with the Browns. He had a free hand. He was the only man in the NFL with a team named after him.

The name was given to the team when it first started in 1946 in the All-America Conference. The Browns won every championship in the four years that league lasted, piling up a record of 32 victories, four defeats and three ties.

In 13 NFL seasons the Browns have won seven Eastern Conference titles and three league championships.

Brown's 33-year coaching record is probably unmatched. It spans two seasons at Severn Prep, nine at Massillon, Ohio, High School, three at Ohio State University, two at the Great Lakes Naval Station in Chicago and the last 17 with the Browns. He won 296 games, lost 75 and had 15 ties.

Strike Is Hurting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The

coastal maritime strike is having serious consequences on Arkansas agriculture, Rep. E. C. Gathing, D-Ark., told Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz Wednesday. Gathing said 55 per cent of Arkansas' agricultural production is exported and "unless ports resume loading, rice mills, soybean processors and poultry producers must shut down operations and lay off workers."

eigners and cameras — taking a picture of Babylon or Baghdad requires a police permit—has wiped itself out of the tourist guidebooks. Saudi Arabia admits Moslem pilgrims to Mecca, but a Christian tourist rarely gets into the country.

Jordan, however, is conducting a sophisticated campaign to swell the stream of visitors to the Holy Land.

This year the campaign brought 210,000 tourists to Jerusalem—which is divided between Jordan and Israel — to Bethlehem, the Dead Sea and Petra. The number has more than doubled in three years.

Tourists watching the glass blowers of Hebron, swimming in the Dead Sea or strolling through Jerusalem's medieval streets can stay in new hotels and guest houses or refurbished old ones. They can speed from Christ's birthplace to a desert camp on new roads, or plunge into swimming pools in places where running water was unknown a few years ago.

Army engineers are helping restore the ruins of antiquity that litter the desert. Amman's little airport can handle the largest jets. An American public relations specialist in Beirut makes his suggestions directly to King Hussein.

Israel attracts Jewish tourists from all over the world, yet in the past three years one-third of all visitors were Christians visiting Nazareth. Tourism has been rising steadily and 185,000 visitors are expected this year to wander among biblical scenes and study the busy new life of modern Israel.

Lebanon has the historic city of Byblos, the famed cedars, the only skiing in the Middle East, Baalbeck and its festival, a Riviera-style gambling casino, excellent hotels and restaurants, beaches, scenery and climate that equal the French Riviera, but the country has done almost nothing to develop resorts to take advantage of them.

Home Fraud Case Goes to Trial

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—Fifty witnesses and 45 members of a jury panel jammed the halls outside U. S. District Court today for the beginning of the Villa Mobile Homes fraud trial.

Federal District Judge J. Smith Henley was to open the case later this morning and selection of the jury was to begin.

U. S. Atty. Charles Conway of Fort Smith said he plans to call more than 100 witnesses in the case. He estimated the trial would last two weeks.

Nine persons are charged with conspiring to transfer and conceal assets of the Villa Mobile Homes Manufacturing Corp. of Camden in order to get around U.S. bankruptcy laws.

The company was established in 1956 by Lawrence M. Blalock. It employed up to 220 persons in the manufacture of house trailers before it was declared bankrupt in U.S. District Court on May 1, 1961.

Blalock was president until two months before bankruptcy, when he sold out to Max H. Smith of Littleton, Colo., Robert H. Close of Tempe, Ariz., and the Rev. Robert B. Young of Tulsa, a Baptist minister.

Smith became president, Close vice president and Young was secretary-treasurer for two weeks.

These four and five other persons who were employed by the company or had business transactions with it, are accused in the indictment of working together to transfer and conceal assets in contemplation of bankruptcy.

The others are Max T. Morgan of Phoenix; Kenneth C. Close of Bowling Green, Ohio; Mrs. Peggy Joyce Coats of Fordyce, Ark., secretary-treasurer of the firm; Harold William Sullivan of Bearden, Ark., an employee, and William Robert Grubbs, who served as sales manager in the last few weeks of the company's operation.

All have pleaded innocent. The indictment charges that Blalock transferred numerous house trailers to the Maverick Mobile Home Corp. of Tulsa without receiving any payment for them.

Morgan was president of the Maverick firm, the indictment said.

It also charged that Smith, Robert H. Close and Young conspired to cancel a $74,514 debt which Blalock allegedly owed Villa Mobile Homes.

All the defendants are free on bond. Blalock recently opened another trailer manufacturing plant in Camden.

Congress May Have Quiet Opening

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The new 88th Congress—opening Wednesday—will be no ball of fire.

There are two simple reasons: 1. Congress will stay conservative unless scorched by presidential heat or urgent necessity, like a bad economic slump.

2. President Kennedy won't apply the torch. He wants to be nice with Congress.

There will be the usual bicker-

JFK Avoids Fight With Congress

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's reluctance to have pitched battles with Congress for his programs has caused some puzzlement and criticism. He's ing and dicking. For instance, on whether to cut taxes and how much.

There will be much solid work done, like last year, but of a routine, unsensational and noninflammatory nature.

The President, as usual, will get pretty much what he wants in defense and foreign dealings, but not at home.

Anything very controversial at home—like medical care or public aid to education—seems out.

This is an in-between Congress: in between the 1962 congressional elections and the combined presidential-congressional elections of 1964.

What's done for the voters will be more vivid in their memory at election time in 1964, if what's done is done in 1964 instead of in 1963.

So such new and far-reaching questions as medical care and education aid probably will be settled next year.

Even Kennedy seems dubious of the chances this year.

Just because he does he is not apt to fight any harder for them in 1963 than in 1962. And last year his efforts were something less than spectacular.

In 20 years in Washington this writer cannot recall any president who, before a Congress even met, seemed so passive, even negative about his programs as Kennedy does this year.

Congress has been conservative without interruption, and this goes for both parties, since it passed the last piece of New Deal legislation, the Wage-Hour Law, in 1938.

Since then it has moved in extraordinary and far-ranging ways in foreign affairs and defense. But it has only inched along on domestic problems.

A good example of the prevailing conservative mood is the rumormongering over the House Rules Committee. This group generally can keep the full House from voting a bill by simply not letting it out of the committee for House action.

However, a bill could be forced out of the Rules Committee if a majority of the House approved. Or under a little-used calendar Wednesday rule, committee chairmen could call up committee-approved bills on Wednesdays of each week without clearing through the rules group.

But since such moves are almost never made on controversial legislation, particularly of the liberal kind, it's fairly apparent the rest of the House shares the committee's conservatism.

In 1961 Kennedy won—but only by a squeak and after a tremendous House struggle—a fight to liberalize the committee by enlarging it from 12 to 15 members.

The committee goes back to its original 12-man size this year unless the House once again wants to keep it at 15. This fight starts on opening day.

Kennedy is worried his programs will be blocked unless the committee is kept at 15.

still reluctant. But for this he has reasons, although they may not please every one.

They can be put together from what he said in his hour-long television interview last month and what was told reporters covering his Christmas vacation at Palm Beach.

Some of the reasons are fear for his popularity if he got into tangles with Congress and, if he did, that his chances for re-election in 1964 would suffer.

He has a reluctance to "raise hell" if he's not sure of winning, and he doubts he could damage some of his conservative opponents because they're too well entrenched with their own voters back home.

Nevertheless, his favorable biographer, Professor James MacGregor Burns, said a week ago on television that Kennedy's place among the best presidents will pretty much depend on whether he "can solve his problem with Congress."

Burns indirectly suggested Kennedy, like President Franklin D. Roosevelt did, pays too much attention to the House and Senate committee chairmen and not enough to the rank and file in Congress.

Kennedy's tactics, while they actually involve the basic questions of presidential popularity and leadership, happen to be exactly the same as those used by his predecessor, President Eisenhower.

In both cases the tactics have been simple and obvious: Try persuasion mildly with Congress but, even though the programs get chopped up or slaughtered, nobody ever gets mad at anybody.

This worked all right for Eisenhower. He remained highly popular eight years and got re-elected without trouble. So far it's worked for Kennedy. He's highly popular although he thinks he may have trouble in 1964.

In his television interview Kennedy gave these views: The 1962 elections didn't change much in Congress (his Democrats, far outnumbering the Republicans, still run the show) and that any time he offers a controversial bill he'll win or lose by three or four votes.

He said a President can get an insignificant program through all right, but "if it is significant and affects important interests and is controversial... there is a fight and the President is never wholly successful."

Since he feels the going will be tough and the outcome questionable on much he says he wants, then his statement—"There is no sense in raising hell, and then not being successful"—becomes handy excuse for raising no hell at all.

At Palm Beach reporters were told: He's glad the opinion polls give him a high popularity rating. But he thinks this popularity is readily translated into congressional action only when he speaks on major issues of national security.

When a chief executive has to go repeatedly to bat for controversial domestic programs, Kennedy is convinced, the popularity melts away and he comes a special pleader or party manager.

Eisenhower didn't let his popularity melt by warring with Congress. As of now, Kennedy doesn't intend to, either. But Eisenhower was in a different spot: For six of his eight years he dealt with a Congress run by Democrats.

The Congress Kennedy is dealing with is packed with his own party members.

U.S., Russia Close Cuban Crisis Book

By MILTON BESSER

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union have closed the U.N. book on the Cuban crisis that two months ago raised the prospect of nuclear war.

The big powers, in a joint letter Monday night to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant, conceded that they have not been able to resolve all problems in connection with the crisis. But they said in view of understandings they have reached, it is not necessary for the matter "to occupy further the attention of the Security Council at this time."

The chief remaining deadlock was Cuba's refusal to admit the foreign inspectors demanded by the United States to verify the removal of Soviet offensive missiles and jet bombers.

The Soviet Union also failed to get guarantees against an invasion of Cuba.

The joint letter was signed by U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov.

Cuba's delegate, Carlos Lechu, ga, raised no objection to dropping the matter in the Security Council. But he said in a separate letter that the U.S. offer of a no-invasion pledge on condition that Cuba permit foreign inspection was "preposterous insolence."

He reiterated Prime Minister Fidel Castro's contention that the decision to permit "inspection of its territory is the sovereign right of a nation."

Although Castro refused to admit foreign inspectors to Cuba, U.S. air and sea reconnaissance verified the Soviet removal of nuclear-capable missiles and bombers which could reach U.S. cities as well as the dismantling of the missile bases.

The Kennedy administration finally said it was satisfied the offensive weapons had been removed from Cuba. The Kennedy administration believes there still are 16,000 to 17,000 Soviet soldiers in Cuba. Castro, at his Jan. 2 anniversary parade, displayed Soviet anti-aircraft missiles which he boasted could knock down any foreign plane that flew over Cuba.

Clay County has a plant that manufactures pool tables. Texarkana is named for three states — Texas, Arkansas, and Louisiana.

Clipper Ship Cookie

During the early days in New England, when American clipper ships roamed the Seven Seas, a spicy molasses cookie traditionally was packed in the sailors' sea chests. This cookie, the Hermit, was seaworthy for several reasons. Since it was so delicious, it enlivened the dreary maritime diet; since it kept so well, it was practical for long journeys. The same Hermits are still enjoyed today, not only in New England but the country over. The cookie is flavorful and aromatic with unsulphured molasses and spices, crunchy with raisins and nuts. Molasses goes into a wide variety of favorite foods, some Early American in origin, some as modern as tomorrow. A new booklet, "Molasses Classics for Modern Cooks," provides over 70 delectable recipes based on unsulphured molasses. To get your free copy, write to Grandma's Recipes, Dept. MC, Box 33, Wall Street Station, New York 5, N.Y.

Hermits

3/4 cup butter or margarine	2 teaspoons baking powder
3/4 cup sugar	1 teaspoon cinnamon
3/4 cup unsulphured molasses	3/4 teaspoon cloves
2 eggs	3/4 teaspoon mace
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour	3/4 teaspoon nutmeg
3/4 teaspoon salt	3/4 teaspoon allspice
3/4 teaspoon soda	3/4 cup raisins
	3/4 cup chopped nuts

Cream together butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add unsulphured molasses and eggs; beat well. Sift together flour, salt, soda, baking powder and spices; stir in raisins and nuts. Add flour mixture to molasses mixture; blend well. Spread evenly in greased 12 x 8-inch baking pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) 30 minutes. Glaze while warm. Cool; cut into squares. YIELD: 12 Hermits.

Glaze

3/4 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
4 teaspoons water

Blend together confectioners' sugar and water; beat until smooth. Spread on Hermits before cutting.

State Group Will Have Much to Say

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the new Congress gets under way it's apparent that Arkansas' small but mighty delegation will be right in the middle of much action.

The delegation is down to six members—four in the House and two in the Senate—but four of the Arkansians are committee chairmen and the other two are high ranking members of key committees.

One of the big stories of the new Congress will involve tax legislation.

This legislation, of course, just start with the House Ways and Means Committee headed by Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark. Mills has long been interested in tax reform, a closing of tax loopholes and a broadening of the tax base, but he doesn't exactly see eye to eye with President Kennedy, who puts emphasis on a tax cut.

There will be a lot said and printed about this and much of it will swirl around Mills.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., also will be deeply involved in this since he is a member of the Senate Finance Committee which will handle any tax legislation passed by the House. Fulbright joined this committee two years ago as the 11th Democrat. This year he moves up a notch due to the death of Sen. Robert Kerr, D-Okla.

Another hot issue may be Medicare and this, too, will fall in Mills' jurisdiction. This subject also will be handled by the Senate Finance Committee.

In addition to these matters Fulbright, as usual, will be up to his ears in foreign affairs since he heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. There will be many hot issues before that group, including Cuba, Laos, Berlin, the Congo and foreign aid. The hottest probably will be an investigation into lobbying by foreign powers.

Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., faces a heavy work load. He is chairman of the Senate Government Operations Committee and of its investigating subcommittee which is likely to have any number of important investigative hearings. Last year, for instance, it had the Billie Sol Estes case on its hands.

This year, McClellan has said he wants to call Estes before his group. He also has indicated he will look into the dockworkers strike, the TFX fighter plane contract award, international narcotics traffic and gambling involving school sports, among other matters.

McClellan also is on the Senate Judiciary and Appropriations committees.

Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., is the fourth committee chairman, from Arkansas, heading the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee. This group handles legislation for a big batch of busy federal agencies, including those in the fields of transportation, commerce, gas, electricity and securities. It meets often and long.

Rep. E. C. Gathings, D-Ark., is a high ranking member of the House Agriculture Committee and chairman of its cotton subcommittee.

Little Rock Names a New Mayor

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Byron R. Morse, a real estate man, was elected Mayor of Little Rock Monday night at a meeting of the City Manager Board.

He succeeds Mayor Werner C. Knoop, who announced at the start of the meeting that he would not accept renomination. Knoop had served as mayor since 1957, when the city adopted the city manager form of government.

Red Chinese Following Marx, Lenin

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP)—The Red Chinese are practicing ancestor worship in what may be the graveyard of Soviet-Chinese unity.

The ancestors are Marx and Lenin.

The Russians and Red Chinese have become like two separate priesthoods, each claiming it alone knows the correct meaning of the dogma handed down by the two patriarchs of communism.

This schism looks simple but is instead profound: Can communism live in the same world with the West without war? The Russians say yes, the Chinese no.

The Chinese in effect accuse the Russians, for thinking yes, of having betrayed the basic teachings of Marx and Lenin. In return Premier Khrushchev accuses his allies of "madness."

This is where their dispute stands at the moment. It has turned the growing split between them into a bleeding sore. It seems certain to get worse. All the West can do is hope it gets fatally worse.

It began some time back with Red Chinese criticism of Khrushchev for suggesting peaceful coexistence with the West is possible. It became savage when the Chinese denounced him for backing down in the Cuban crisis.

And now the Chinese have plastered him with a word which is unbearable in both the Communist and Western worlds. They have called his withdrawal from Cuba "appeasement."

In a 10,000-word editorial Dec. 31 in their newspaper, the People's Daily, the Red Chinese have made their fiercest and most public attack on the Russians and Khrushchev.

It was on Dec. 12 that Khrushchev, who said he pulled his missiles out of Cuba to avoid nuclear war, used the word "madness" to describe the Chinese complaint that he shouldn't have budged.

There hasn't been time for him or the Russian communist party to reply to the attack in the People's Daily last Monday. This should show whether the split will become a Communist disaster.

The editorial in the People's Daily will remain not only an historic document but a blueprint for anyone in the West who is apt to forget, in the years ahead, what the Red Chinese said their real intentions are.

Their racking dispute with Russia can be put another way:

They blame the Soviets for looking upon the Marx-Lenin teachings as being outmoded as demonstrated by their various accommodations with the West and their suggestion that the two sides can live peacefully together.

The Chinese put a rigid construction on Marxism-Leninism but the mind spins in trying to follow their tortured reasoning where up is down, in is out, and nothing is really as it is or was.

They insist the source of modern war is Western "imperialism" and that the United States "imperialist bloc" is menacing world peace.

But it was the Red Chinese who invaded India and gobbled up

An Adequate Breakfast

Sliced bananas, corn flakes with strawberry jam and whole milk, hot muffins, butter or margarine, and cocoa—here is an adequate breakfast!

What is an adequate breakfast? Is there a definite answer? Yes! During the course of the scientifically controlled Iowa Breakfast Studies on the role of breakfast in the diet regimen, an adequate breakfast, designated as a basic breakfast, was established. The basic breakfast is defined as one which provides one-fourth of the total daily caloric requirement and one-fourth of the total daily protein allowance. The basic breakfast is designed as a guide by which a nutritionally adequate breakfast can be calculated for any individual, by adjusting it both calorie-wise and as to the protein allowance.

The whole family can enjoy the same basic breakfast of fruit, cereal and milk, bread and butter or margarine, and a beverage. For most people, average servings of these foods supply one-fourth of the day's food needs. If a member of the family is on a weight reduction diet, the servings can be smaller, and nonfat milk used in place of whole milk. For those whose calorie needs are higher, add a generous serving of jam or jelly to the cereal, and use whole milk. For persons whose energy needs are higher, this modern breakfast may be supplemented with other foods.

And now the Chinese have plastered him with a word which is unbearable in both the Communist and Western worlds. They

School Prayer Made Big Headlines

NEW YORK (AP)—School prayers made big headlines last year, but 1963 may well see even greater controversy develop over the issue of church-state separation.

The Supreme Court's decision last June banning official school prayers in public schools left unanswered many questions dealing with the relationship of schools and the church.

Foremost is the matter of just what constitutes an official prayer.

Would any prayer said regularly in a public school be an official prayer?

Two cases to come before the court this winter are expected to throw new light on the question of how far public schools may go in allowing prayers and bible reading.

One pertains to an appeal by Madalyn Murray of Baltimore from a 4-3 decision by Maryland's Court of Appeals.

The Maryland court upheld a Baltimore School Board regulation calling for Bible reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer at daily school-opening exercises.

Attorneys general of at least 10 states have agreed to support Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan of Maryland in his case.

In the second case, Pennsylvania

Tibet. And it was Khrushchev who almost started war over Cuba.

nia state officials are appealing a decision by a three-judge federal court decided that a Pennsylvania law requiring Bible reading in public schools violates the Constitution.

The June prayer ruling was probably the court's most important to date on the church-state issue as affecting public schools.

Some clergymen predict a major development of Protestant parochial schools if the court rules out public school prayer in any form.

Justice Hugo Black, in the court majority opinion, said the government has no business sponsoring "official prayers."

In Miami, Fla., a group of agnostics and Jews say they will take to the Supreme Court their fight against daily Bible readings in Florida's public schools.

The practice, required by law, was upheld last summer by the Florida Supreme Court.

A similar issue was raised in Georgia in litigation over whether tax-exempt private colleges could be withdrawn from private colleges that admit Negroes.

A Texas case which may eventually reach the Supreme Court involves charges that it is unconstitutional for garbed Catholic nuns to teach in public schools.

QUESTIONS: I have heard that benefits are paid to disabled workers regardless of the worker's age. Is this true?

ANSWER: Yes, there is no age limit on payment of disability benefits. However, there are two basic qualifications: (1) The worker must have earned social security credits totaling five full years out of the 10 year period immediately before he became disabled, and (2) the worker must be suffering from a medically determinable physical or mental disability which prevents him from engaging in any substantial gainful activity. There is no such thing as a partial disability under the social security program.

Tasty Tabasco Spaghetti Sauce

This luscious meat spaghetti sauce is easily made and can be frozen. Make two or three batches at a time, enjoying some tonight and freezing the balance. The sauce includes the familiar favorite ingredients: tomatoes, mushrooms, garlic, bay leaf, thyme, and, of course, Tabasco, the unique liquid red pepper seasoning so necessary for a good spicy sauce.

Tabasco Spaghetti Sauce
2 tablespoons olive oil or butter
1 pound ground beef
2 medium onions, chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
1 can (3 or 4 ounces) mushrooms
1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
1/2 cup dry red wine, optional
1 can (1 pound) tomatoes
2 teaspoons salt
1 bay leaf
1/2 teaspoon thyme
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Heat olive oil or melt butter in heavy saucepan. Add meat, breaking up into small pieces with a fork. Add onion and garlic, and when meat is browned, stir in mushrooms with liquid and remaining ingredients. Simmer until sauce is thickened, about 30 minutes. YIELD: 6 servings.

To Freeze:
Make 2 or 3 batches at a time. Chill quickly by setting pan in cold water or in refrigerator. Spoon into straight-sided quart or pint freezer jars. Freeze. To serve, run warm water over jar. Slip out frozen block into skillet or saucepan. Heat slowly.

NOTE: Mixture may be kept in freezer 1 to 3 months.

THE STORY: A private investigator, Matt Bacon, is interviewing associates of Dr. Pruitt in an effort to determine the whereabouts of the missing scientist.

Taking leave of Jack Clague, Matt accompanied Simon Rispin to his office in the Appliance Building.

"I didn't want to talk in front of Clague," Rispin said in a conspiratorial tone. "You know how gossip gets around. Mrs. Pruitt has been running around with other men."

"Is that why Pruitt left her, you think?"

"Possibly. Clifford Johnson was the principal one. At least he was the man who usually brought Mrs. Pruitt to our ham club meetings. There were others. She came with Clague once or twice. I never liked Belle Pruitt. She considers herself an authority on radio. Even to me and I helped Magnetic establish its equipment line."

"I met Johnson in the cafeteria. He said he and his wife were the best friends the Pruitts had. Maybe the whole thing was innocent."

"I know the Pruitts haven't always gotten along well. She left him once. Tried to cover up by saying her mother was ill. Of course her mother did die, but I don't think that was the real reason she left."

They went into the Appliance Building and up to Rispin's office. A sharp-nosed secretary sat at a desk in a small ante-room. "You can go to lunch, Miss Carson," said Rispin.

"Thank you, Mr. Rispin," she said, giving Matt a critical eye. Rispin closed the door to his private office.

"So you think there was something between Johnson and Mrs. Pruitt?" Matt asked.

"Yes. And I don't say that to hurt Mr. Johnson. I know, Mr. Bacon, that Johnson expects to step into my shoes when I retire. Sooner, if possible. But he's a fine young man. I like ambition." "Isn't it rather unusual that a woman should take up amateur radio as a hobby?" he asked, after they were seated.

"Lots of women do. We have two women members in our club. Mrs. Pruitt and Miss Stevenson." "Suzy Stevenson?" Matt was surprised. "Mr. Bradley's secretary?"

"Yes, she joined when she got to running around with Malcolm Westfall," Rispin smiled slyly. "I think they have an understanding. They always come to meetings together."

Rispin knew all the gossip, and he told more than he really knew. "You see," Rispin went on, "Belle Pruitt was a radio engineer once and had an offer to work in one of the new radio astronomy observatories. That was many years ago, when the idea was just beginning to take hold. At any rate, she went to college to qualify her for the position and she met Chester Pruitt, who was a physics instructor. A romance resulted. Since then Belle's interest in radio has been of the amateur variety."

Matt could see no point in wasting more time. He stood up. "Well, what you say is interesting," said Rispin. "Mr. Bradley wants us to cooperate. And I believe where there's smoke, there's fire."

Matt walked out. Instead of leaving the building, he stopped in front of a double door marked Appliance Laboratory, a short distance from Rispin's office.

He pushed the swinging door gently and walked through. On the other side was a low balcony, a few feet above the floor of the large room that seemed to extend the length of the building.

A pipe rail ran the length of the balcony and at either end was a short flight of steps down to the floor level. The room was cut up by partitions into a number of enclosures and stalls in which were motors, refrigerators, laundry equipment, radio and TV sets, and other items in more or less dismantled condition.

It was lunch hour and no work was in progress. The few men in the room idled, talking and playing checkers.

The door behind him opened. Matt turned to watch the entrance of a short man, about 30, with thick, black curly hair, and small, belligerent, beady eyes.

"Did you lose touch with the land?" he asked Matt.

Matt stared. The man was wearing a badge which carried the name Fred Bernard.

"I mean, daddy-o, you got a mission?" He returned the stare. "Just looking around."

"You're from nowhere. Sail into the sunset, friend."

Matt pulled out his pass, the one bearing Bradley's signature. The little man read it and handed it back to Matt.

"The beat's wrong," said Bernard. "What's your racket?"

Matt put the pass back into the inside pocket of his coat. He leaned toward the little man and

Everone Is Hopeful for '63 Business

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Mona Lisa smiled on President Kennedy Tuesday. Today Congress convenes with just as enigmatic a smile. Neither the President, the steel wage negotiations that could start in April?

be sure just what that look on its face may bode.

Stock market analysts and business economists have been giving the investor and consumer some of the same treatment. They seem to be saying: Hope for a good 1963 but keep your guard up.

Labor-management relations are just as uncertain in many industries today. What is going to happen in the East and Gulf coast dock strike, the New York and Cleveland newspaper strikes, the steel wage negotiations that could start in April?

And beyond that, will one or more of these and other possible labor struggles lead to an attempt in Congress to change present labor laws along the vaguely defined line known as the public interest?

For the average taxpayer the big enigma as Congress meets is whether it will smile on proposals to cut taxes. And if it does, just who will get them, and how much. Businessmen would like to see corporate taxes cut. Even more, many of them are interested in proposed tax reforms. Mostly these deal with attempts to close what tax collectors call loopholes. Some of these are very dear to some people. Close the loophole and you may have erased any gains from a moderate cut in corporate income tax rates.

And across the Atlantic, is the look the Common Market turns this way a smile or not? Even at closer range, across the English Channel Great Britain is having trouble deciding if continental European nations want to admit it to their trading club. The last Congress gave President Kennedy powers to bargain with the Common Market on tariffs and other trade barriers. But as the new one convenes there are strong signs that the fast-growing industrial complex of Western Europe feels the United States needs increased trade with Europe more than the Common Market nations need a boost in trade with Americans. The bargaining will be tough.

But after all, that is a smile on Mona Lisa's face, not a frown. And the business outlook today is cautiously optimistic—not full of gloom. Retail sales have mounted to a new peak, despite bad weather and strikes. Steel output has hit its highest point since last April when the big companies had their tussle with the President over an attempt to hike prices. Even the cautious forecasters see only a moderate and largely seasonal letdown during the rest of the winter.

Few expect today's slight smile to change to a broad grin. But hold the tears for awhile.

Cage Fixer Plans an Appeal

NEW YORK (AP)—Attorneys for convicted basketball fixer Jack Molinas planned an appeal today after the former Columbia University and professional star was convicted on five charges growing out of the collegiate gambling scandals.

Molinas, 30, faces a maximum prison sentence of 36 years and fines totaling $35,500.

A jury of eight men and four women debated for more than eight hours Tuesday night before finding Molinas guilty on three charges of bribing a college player, one count of conspiring to bribe players in about 25 games and one count of attempting to get a college player to commit perjury.

Molinas showed no emotion when the guilty verdicts were announced. His attorney, Jacob Eversoff, said he would appeal.

Judge Joseph A. Sarafite set Feb. 11 for sentencing and increased Molinas' bail from $5,000 to $25,000. Molinas, himself an attorney, was unable to post the increased bail, so he was sent to jail.

Molinas faces the following sentences:

Ten years and $10,000 on each of the bribery charges.

One year and a fine of $500 on the conspiracy charge.
Five years and a fine of $5,000 on the perjury charge.

The three bribery charges involve Molinas' dealings with William Dennis Reed, a former Bowling Green, Ohio, player in 1959 and 1960. He was accused of paying Reed $1,000 for each game to shave points in Bowling Green games against DePaul and Bradley in 1959 and Canisius in 1960. The perjury charge accused Molinas—who was barred from the National Basketball Association in 1954 when it was discovered that he bet on his own team, the Fort Wayne Pistons—of trying to induce Reed to commit perjury in testimony before the grand jury.

The conspiracy charge was in connection with Molinas' part in helping bribe players in about 25 college games involved in the scandals.

The scandals began to unfold in 1961 and before they ended about 40 players in more than 20 colleges around the country were involved.

Denies Loop Linked to Bet Scandal

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League, taking the stage only hours after his National League counterpart stepped down, denied today the rumors linking his league with the increased talk of a betting scandal. Foss, in Los Angeles, told The Associated Press:

"No governmental investigatory agency, at either the federal or state level, has been in contact with the AFL office."

Foss also said that no information had come to the AFL which would cause him to order lie detector tests, a power he has under league rules.

"I'm not so naive, however," said Foss, "to think that in any league of this kind, with so many players, that there may not be a few boys who would have some contact or association with people who might be considered tainted."

"All you have to do," continued Foss, "is bump into the wrong kind of person on the street, let someone stretch a point, and they will say you're associating with him. We're always on the lookout in such a matter, but there's been no contact by government bodies and as far as the league knows there's no cause for any contact."

Foss stepped into the situation that first flared Friday and since has produced little fire but much smoke after newspaper reports linked the AFL with the same rumors of betting coups and point-shaving that originally hit the NFL.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle emphasizing that no investigation in his league "stemmed from federal agencies," said Tuesday that league investigations being conducted in Chicago and Detroit have uncovered "nothing more than questionable associations."

Names that have been injected into the report, include halfback Paul Hornung of the champion Green Bay Packers, tackle Alex Karras and linebacker Wayne Walker of the Detroit Lions and Chicago Bears' fullback Rick Casares.

There have been no charges made against any NFL player and the league has continually maintained that its investigations, routinely conducted as in past years have turned up nothing of a criminal nature.

Rozelle said it has been NFL policy to check down even the flimsiest rumor.

Pineapple Ham Loaf Pantry Shelf Entree

A welcome modern menu for busy hostesses features pineapple glazed ham loaf in new dress. Rows of canned pineapple half slices are placed between slices of ham loaf for a pantry shelf meal that is economical, attractive and good eating. It comes to the table ready-to-serve.

Parsleyed new potatoes, green asparagus with Hollandaise Sauce, a crisp salad and crusty rolls are excellent accompaniments to serve with this tasty entree.

Quick Glazed Pineapple Ham Loaf

2 cans chopped ham
1 (1-pound 4 1/2-ounce) can pineapple slices
1/2 cup brown sugar (packed)
1 teaspoon cornstarch
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon red wine vinegar

Make 3 deep cuts in each ham loaf almost through to bottom. Place in shallow baking pan. Insert half of pineapple slice in each cut. Combine 1/2 cup syrup from pineapple with remaining ingredients. Simmer gently about 5 minutes. Pour over ham and pineapple. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 20 minutes, until hot and lightly glazed. Add rest of pineapple slices last 10 minutes. Baste frequently. Makes 8 servings.

1 Man Show in Tourney at Tech

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A one-man show in overtime and a last minute victory highlighted the opening round of the Arkansas Tech high school basketball tour-namment here Monday night.

Ronnie Crawford put on the overtime scoring display, hitting all eight of Plainview's points for a 52-46 victory over Scranton.

Jimmy Stafford hit a bucket with six seconds to play to boost Green Forest past Hector 42-41.

In other games, Coal Hill upset Valley Springs 87-81, Atkins surprised Oden 59-50, Jessierville beat Greenwood 52-33, Harrison topped Paris 60-46, Clarksville stopped Deer 59-46 and Mulberry thundered past Ola 60-18.

Today's schedule shows Fayetteville vs. Alpena, Fort Smith vs. Waldron, Fort Smith St. Anne's vs. Marmaduke, Marshall vs. Jasper, Leslie vs. Cotter, Lincoln vs. Bergman, Pyatt vs. Dover and County Line vs. Van Buren.

Plainview and Scranton were tied 44-44 at the end of regulation play and then Crawford went on his spree. He finished with 24 points.

Stafford's shot came with Green Forest trailing Hector 41-39.

Larry Crabtree hit 20 points and Morris Fuller added 15 to pace Mulberry's conquest of Ola.

Deer led Clarksville most of the game, but couldn't hold on because of the shooting of Clarksville's Jack Branch and Jack Walters, who put in 16 and 13 points respectively.

Atkins led all the way in surprising Oden, with five of the six men Atkins who played scoring in double figures.

Greenwood took an early lead over Jessierville, but when Jessierville took the lead, Greenwood never recovered.

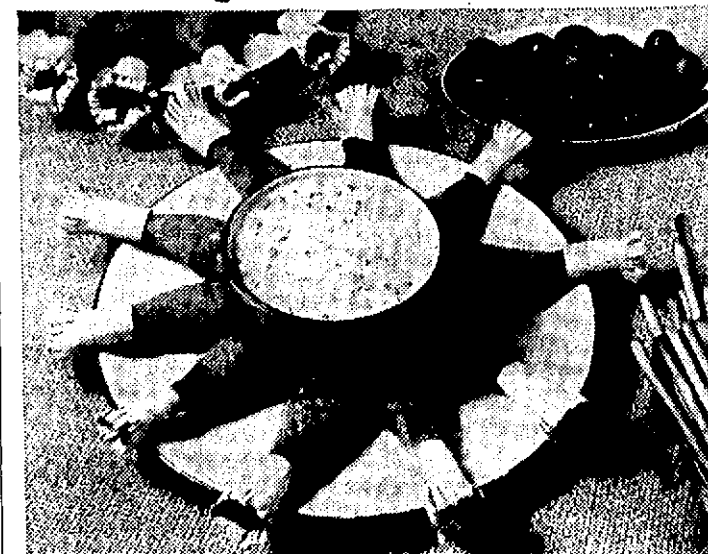

Paris never led Harrison, mainly because of Harrison's Paul Hill, who pumped in 26 points.

Free throw accuracy gunned Coal Hill past Valley Springs. Coal Hill, outshot from the floor 35 to 28, put in 31 of 44 free throw attempts.

Two Sentences

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Max Harvey Trolinger, 32, of Miami, Okla. was given two suspended sentences and fined $500 Tuesday in U.S. District Court here after pleading guilty to charges in two coin alteration cases. In a case transferred from Memphis he was given a two-year sentence and fined $500 and in another case transferred from St. Louis, a two-year sentence to run concurrently with the first. The charged involved altering of coins to make them resemble collectors' items. Marion Lamond Shepherd of Miami, a co-defendant in the St. Louis case, also pleaded guilty and received a $500 fine and two-year suspended sentence.

Corn-Crisped Drumsticks Beat All

For an informal dinner party, you'll want to offer refreshments that are original, easy to eat in a casual manner, and not too costly in money or time. Corn-crisped drumsticks meet all these requirements. Coated with a golden cornflake crumb crust, they look as good as they taste. Their shape suits them to pleasantly informal service—with a frill at one end and a lemon parsley dunking sauce at the other.

To prepare the drumsticks, dip them in evaporated milk; then roll them in cornflake crumbs seasoned with Ac-cent monosodium glutamate to let the full chicken flavor develop during baking, and caraway seeds for an extra flipp. You can bake as many as 24 drumsticks in a batch by arranging them on two aluminum foil-lined pans and putting one pan on each oven rack.

Caraway Corn-Crisped Drumsticks

24 broiler-fryer drumsticks
2 1/2 cups corn flake crumbs
1 tablespoon Ac-cent
1 tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon caraway seeds
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Aluminum foil
1 cup evaporated milk

Combine corn flake crumbs with Ac-cent, salt, caraway seeds and pepper. Line 2 shallow baking pans with aluminum foil. Dip drumsticks in evaporated milk then roll immediately in seasoned corn flake crumbs. Place chicken in foil-lined pans; do not crowd. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) one hour, or until tender. At the end of 30 minutes, exchange pans on the shelves; continue to bake. No need to cover or turn chicken while cooking. Serve with Lemon Parsley Sauce. YIELD: 12 servings.

Lemon Parsley Sauce

1/2 cup butter or margarine
6 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
3 cups water
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 cup chopped parsley

Melt butter in saucepan. Blend in flour and salt. Gradually add water, stirring constantly. Cook, stirring frequently, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Remove from heat. Stir in lemon juice, sugar and parsley. YIELD: Approximately 4 cups.

Great Glob of Guilt Complexes

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

New York. — Most of the time, I am one great glob of guilt complexes.

This, from what I've observed makes me a typical American.

Right now, for example, I feel guilty for not yet having written thank-you letters for all the lovely Christmas presents and holiday parties, I could have "tossed them off" by now, but then I'd have felt guilty about not expressing my gratefulness sincerely and thoughtfully. Yet if I had taken the time to write the letters sincerely and thoughtfully, I would feel guilty because my house would be dirty and my husband and child neglected.

And the worst of it is, I feel guilty for feeling guilty. It's such a waste of nervous energy, time and self-respect. It's the most nagging form of worry.

Still, in this country founded by puritans with rigid rules of behavior, the guilt complex seems to have got us all.

We agree that money should not be the symbol of success, yet ridiculously we feel guilty if we do not make progressively more of it.

Women claim their rights as male equals, then feel guilty when those rights are given them.

Men feel guilty if they work too hard or too little, love their children too much or too little, drink alcohol regularly (that's immoral) or teetotal (that's unsocial).

Children feel guilty when they misbehave and aren't punished.

Yet parents feel guilty when they punish the children.

We feel guilty if we are not the social and economic equal of our neighbors.

And we feel guilty if our neighbors are socially or economically superior to us.

At the same time we feel guilty that we are even thinking in those terms.

We feel guilty if we don't like our business associates. And guilty if they don't like us.

If we're well-educated, we feel guilty that we don't read and study enough, to take advantage of our education.

But we feel equally guilty if we take time out to read, because we're neglecting our families and

Ole Miss Insists Law Was Obeyed

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Answering charges by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, Chancellor John D. Williams of the University of Mississippi says the school has obeyed all federal orders since its desegregation crisis last fall.

Williams said no complaint had been made by an official representing the Justice Department when he conferred at length with university officials last week.

Kennedy's criticism of university officials came after James H. Meredith said Monday he would withdraw from the university unless the situation changes.

Meredith, 29, is the first Negro knowingly admitted to the university.

Meredith, who distributed a statement at a news conference in his dormitory apartment, didn't say what changes he had in mind. But he told newsmen he felt he had to have a "situation more conducive to learning."

A little later Kennedy issued a statement in Washington in which he called on university officials to take appropriate steps to make it possible for Meredith to continue in school.

For the first month after Meredith's court-ordered enrollment he was subjected to frequent harassment by students. University officials then cracked down and threatened expulsion of any students guilty of conduct "not conducive to study."

Since then, Meredith has gone largely unnoticed on the campus although most students have refused to associate with him. However, when word spread on the campus of his possible withdrawal, a group of about 500 hissed him outside his dormitory.

In his statement, Kennedy said: "Many members of the faculty have made an effort in the highest tradition of their profession to obey the court's orders and assist Mr. Meredith in getting an education, but it is true that a number of officials charged with the administration of the university have not met their responsibilities."

"It is incumbent upon them and state law enforcement officials to make it possible for Mr. Meredith to continue his education without interruption."

Kennedy added that Meredith is "as free to leave the school as he was to enter it."

In New York, a spokesman for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said the possibility that Meredith might withdraw from the university would not lessen efforts to desegregate the school.

The spokesman said efforts soon will be made to integrate the Universities of Alabama and South Carolina. He would not say how many Negro students may be involved.

Chancellor Williams said the administration and faculty "have done all that was responsible and proper to insure the best possible education for all students."

"Since the court order was issued, not one directive has been received from the federal courts the military authorities, the U.S. marshals or the Justice Department in this connection except for one football game to be removed from the campus, which was done. All reasonable suggestions have been followed."

Meredith said he planned to remain at Ole Miss at least through the end of final examinations, which begin Jan. 18 and end Jan. 22. Registration for the spring semester is Jan. 31-Feb. 2.

Meredith has been rumored to be in academic trouble since he started classes at Mississippi. At one point he acknowledged a need for tutors to help his grades.

University students must make at least a 2.0 grade average—a "D"—or face probation status. If they fail to make at least an "E", or 1.0, average, they face almost automatic expulsion.

cents worth of postage now to send a letter first class and eight cents worth for air mail. People who had four-cent and seven-cent stamps needed the one-centers to meet the new requirements.

When the new postal rates went into effect Monday, Syracuse, N.Y., post offices sold more than 500,000 one-cent stamps. This compared with the normal daily sale of 10,000.

Baltimore post offices were hit for about three million one-centers and special messengers were sent to Washington for three or four million more.

"Christmas was mild compared to this," said Louis Caplan, a Baltimore postal window clerk for 38 years.

An enterprising, Lincoln, Neb., resident tried to beat the postal hike deadline, sending out 200 four-cent letters marked: "Do not open until Christmas, 1963."

Columbus, Ohio, mailmen picked up 38,000 letters Sunday night—before the midnight deadline—compared with the usual 8,000.

Postal officials said a lot of letter receivers will have to pay an extra penny for four-cent letters posted after the deadline. The postmen predicted many won't be happy about having to go to the post office to get such letters if they aren't home when the postman comes.

In Monday's first pickup of 20,000 letters in Dallas, Tex., about half failed to carry the new postage.

At Boston's main post office, people lined up 40 and 50 deep at six stamp windows. The Pittsburgh post office was forced to put on extra employees at its stamp windows. In Salt Lake City, the stamp line stretched out into the street.

In Washington, the Post Office Department canvassed its major offices throughout the nation and reported that "the transition has been remarkably smooth, for which we can thank the press and the public."

Contest Delayed

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP) — County Judge J. B. Cross has granted a delay in a hearing on a contested local option election in Ouachita County. Cross said that on request of Nathan L. Schoenfeld of Hot Springs, attorney for the Legal Control Committee, the hearing will be postponed until after the legislature adjourns in March. The control committee headed by Schoenfeld is contesting the election, in which the dries won a narrow victory, 4,461 to 4,277, in the November general election. Schoenfeld is a member of the legislature and state law permit legislators immunity from appearing in court cases prior to and 31 days after a session.

The One Cent Stamp Is a Prize Article

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The one-cent postage stamp, a nearly forgotten relic, was back in large-scale use today.

That's because it takes five Hackett who once told me, "I wake up in the morning and I say to my wife 'I'm sorry,' that covers me for the whole day..."
